Discovery. Discovery shall have an ten business-day, best efforts turnaround until November 5, 2025, and a five business-day, best efforts turnaround thereafter.

Briefs. Any brief shall contain a table of contents, listing the subject headings of the brief, including the points of argument, in the order of presentation, with the numbers of the pages where they appear in the brief. A party's initial brief shall address any factual or legal issue that the party is advocating, supporting or contesting. Any factual or legal issue that is not addressed in a party's initial brief shall not be addressed by that party in a reply brief, except in response to another party's brief. Any reply brief shall be confined to rebuttal of the arguments in a party's initial brief and shall be limited to 15 pages. Block quoted testimony from the case transcript is not permitted. If, on the ALJ's own initiative or on a party's motion, any brief is determined by the ALJ to not substantially comply with these requirements, the ALJ may order the party who filed the brief to file a supplemental brief within a specified time correcting the deficiencies, or the ALJ may disregard or strike the non-conforming brief.
