Subject: Case No. U-15803

To Whom it may concern,

I would like to recommend similar net metering repayments as they are used via law "Renewable Energy Sources Act (EEG)" in Germany. It has become a great success to reduce dependency on gas, oil and atomic energy and reducing the speed of global warming.

Please check the following website.

http://www.umweltministerium.de/files/pdfs/allgemein/application/pdf/eeg_en.pdf

http://www.umweltministerium.de/files/pdfs/allgemein/application/pdf/eeg_begruendung_en.pdf

The main website of the German Federal Ministry for the Environment, Nature Conservation and Nuclear Safety is http://www.umweltministerium.de/english/renewable_energy/doc/6465.php

In the following website you will find an overview about the repayments in spreadsheets. Unfortunately I could only find them in German.

If you need to get it translated we might be able to support you.

I hope you get some ideas out of these information.

I would appreciate if I could get an update about your thoughts.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely yours

Frank Thierry
